UBIqube's Enhanced MSAActivator Platform with integrated support for Cisco ISRG2 series and the Cisco License Manager software

June 2010 by Marc Jacob

UBIqube Solutions, a global integrated network, security and voice management solution vendor, today announces the full support of Cisco ISRG2 800 1900 2900 3900 series and CLM (Cisco License Manager) in UBIqube's MSAActivator TMplatform.

MSActivator offers a unified solution to provision, monitor and report on network, security and voice managed services. It lowers operating expenses through standardization and service management automation and allows CSP's to very quickly bring new managed services to market.

MSActivator TM now features an easy to use web-based interface to the Cisco License Manager server (CLM). This new platform module enables users to easily manage licenses for their Cisco devices leveraging the Cisco License Manager features directly through the vSOC console. Using UBIqube's web-portal, users can add Product Activation Key (PAK), collect the associated licenses and deploy them on managed devices in a few clicks. This new asset is particularly relevant for new Cisco devices.

The main features of the new MSAActivator release are summarized below:

- Out-of-the-box support for provisioning of Cisco ISRG2 devices
- Attach managed devices to a CLM server in one click
- Retrieve

activated service license keys and provision ordered features on managed devices · Manage Cisco licenses process lifecycle on devices from a single tool

Building on Cisco CLM software, UBIqube MSAActivator brings additional value to its customers by drastically simplifying the complexity in the administration of the new integrated features. With UBIqube MSAActivator, customers can create service bundles and manage complete service life cycle using a single tool, from service definition to deployment of the required per-feature license keys, streamlining the order to activation workflow process.
